Terri & Kristi,

I am writing you to let you know how satisfied I was, and more importantly my team of leaders was, with the training Kristi provided from your Leadership series. The event was tailored to both our needs and timeline.

The Packer players brought stories and examples from both their personal and professional lives to enhance the foundation of the training topics. Kristi did a good job facilitating the player's portions of the event and also did a great job with her own portion of the event. The training was well organized and the players were very engaging. The cost of the training, considering the celebrity element, exceeded my value expectations.

The marshmallow event that you customized for us was a perfect ice breaker for a room full of both technical and non-technical leaders. It was fun to watch the "sellers" working with the "doers" and then tie that event into the ABC's of Leadership (Authenticity, Boundaries, and Consideration). To this day, we have adopted the words "stop triangulating" and "leave your BMW at home" within our leadership group as acceptable terms to use within the culture we are fostering.

Please feel free to use me as a reference for other organizations considering your Leadership series of training. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Foth Production Solutions, LLC
